

ABSTRACT:

An optical scanning device for scanning a dual-layer optical record carrier. The device comprises a spherical aberration compensation optical subsystem including a switchable liquid crystal cell (10) for altering optical path lengths generated in a non-periodic phase structure (NPS) element (14) formed of birefringent material.

5

Figure 1

10020054-120701